Bear-Eco Technologies, LLC Releases Pirate Ph.D. for iPad

Pirate Ph.D. Now Available in the iTunes App Store

BRISTOW, VA - September 9, 2011 - Bear-Eco Technologies, LLC announced today that their follow on title, Pirate Ph.D.™ is now available exclusively for iPad. Pirate Ph.D. is a learning game for children targeting the pre-K and kindergarten age group. The game contains nine different learning games. It features skills to help children learn rhyming words, simple addition, U.S. Coins, vocabulary, telling time, among others. The game is unique in its reward system as the player answers questions to acquire coins to purchase items to upgrade the player from swabby to captain.

"Our first learning app, Princess Ph.D. was a huge success for the girls and we hope that parents with boys will be equally excited by this new app made just for them", said Steve Jernigan, CEO and Founder of Bear-Eco Technologies, LLC. "We plan to add more games and more levels within existing games in the near future", said Jernigan.

Princess Ph.D. and Pirate Ph.D. are available world-wide from the iTunes App Store for free. The expansion pack for Pirate Ph.D. is initially offered at $0.99 in the U.S. and relative to this amount world-wide.
